

Freedom of services representation

Expand across Europe without operational complexity.

Enter new markets. Stay in control.

Expanding insurance operations across borders can be complex and resource intensive. Establishing local entities, managing regulatory requirements, and building infrastructure slows down growth and increases costs. Without the right structure, expansion becomes difficult to control.

Under the EU's Freedom of Services provisions, insurers can operate across borders without setting up a local presence. The challenge is executing this efficiently while maintaining compliance, consistency, and service quality.

Van Ameyde acts as your front office, enabling fast market entry with minimal costs. We manage policy administration, claims handling, tax compliance and regulatory obligations, fully aligned with your brand and standards.

Your trusted partner for European market access

Our teams combine local expertise with central coordination, ensuring compliance with domestic and European legislation, including GDPR. Through seamless integration, we operate as an extension of your organization.

By leveraging our infrastructure, network and ECHO claims platform, you gain a scalable, efficient route to expansion without building local operations.

With deep regulatory knowledge and a strong European footprint, Van Ameyde enables controlled, compliant growth across borders.
